

| Connection Interface | Advantage                                                                 | Disadvantage                                                       |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| USB                  | Fast and reliable data transfer; easy to set up with a direct connection.        | Requires a cable, which limits mobility and can create clutter.           |
| Wi-Fi                | Wireless connection allows multiple devices to connect from different locations. | Can be affected by network issues, interference, or weak signal strength. |
| Bluetooth            | Convenient wireless connection for nearby devices without needing a router.      | Shorter range and generally slower data transfer than USB or Wi-Fi.       |